Calling all Street Artists!

Street art enthusiasts aged 12 to 25 years old are invited to showcase their creative talents and skills at the very first Youth Street Art Exhibition on Sydney's Northern Beaches.

This new and exciting not-for-profit event is presented by If u like ART studio in Brookvale and scheduled to occur from 10 April to 2 May, to coincide with National Youth Week 2015.

"The objective of this annual event is to provide a channel for young street artists to display and sell their artwork, as well as provide the general public with the opportunity to gain a greater appreciation of street art," co-ordinator George Katos said of the exhibition. "There are so many talented youth that are into street art, but have nowhere to exhibit their work for all to see. Our studio will not be charging any commission on sales made."

Street artists will have the opportunity to enter up to five original artworks that can be easily hung in a gallery space, by sending images of their artwork for review. Images portrayed cannot be deemed offensive to the public. Registrations close on March 18, but artists are encouraged to enter early, as spaces will be limited.

The general public will have the opportunity to vote for their favourite artwork entries and prizes will be awarded to the five most polled artists. A live street art creation demonstration is planned to occur during the exhibition, as well as a street art workshop for youth.

Mr Katos said that everyone should get behind this event and he has approached a number of businesses across Sydney to provide much needed support to make this event possible.
